

Figure 4: Proportion of observed significant shifts of elevation limits for all species, low and high elevation species that are consistent with the predictions from an overall warming model (i.e. all up) and with nearest neighbor analyses for each of the four Bioclim variables. Symbols above bars indicate that predictions were significantly better than random.

